Introduction

The Government of the Philippines operationalized people's access to information through Executive Order (EO) Number 2 signed by the President in July 2016. While covering only the executive branch of the government, it allowed different users, currently numbering 4,157 (as of December 17, 2018 statistics), access to key government information, managed through a program team housed under the Presidential Communications Operations Office (PCOO). The Freedom of Information (FOI) mandate was recently cascaded to local government units when the Department of Interior and Local Government (DILG), together with PCOO, issued a Joint Memorandum Circular in 2018, encouraging local government units to enact local FOI ordinances.

While significant efforts have been made by the FOI Project Management Office (FOI-PMO) to make citizens aware of the existence of the FOI EO and exact compliance of agencies, only very few has used the measure just yet to seek for information (as indicated in the above number of portal users), and very few of the agencies have been actively responding to information despite including FOI compliance a requirement for agencies to be eligible to received performance-based bonus. As of December 2018, only 34% of a total of 939 covered agencies submitted data inventories, 49% submitted FOI manuals indicating operationalization of the EO at the agency level, while 33% submitted FOI summary reports indicating the number of requests received and responded to. It must be noted, however, that the large bulk of noncompliance are local water districts constituting 55% of the total number of covered agencies.

Among national government agencies, 100% were able to comply with the preparation of FOI manuals, 75% were able to submit data inventories, and 72% have submitted FOI summary reports. The Philippine Statistics Authority topped as the agency with the greatest number of requests, followed by key service delivery agencies like the Department of Health (2^{nd} place), the Department of Public Works and Highways (5^{th} place), and the Department of Education (7^{th} place). Others on the list are the Department of Transportation (3^{rd} place), Department of Budget and Management (4^{th} place), and the DILG (6^{th} place). Interestingly enough legal documents, including contracts, top the list of the most requested information in 2018. Statistics data/research data ranked second.

The Philippine government recognizes that the key to improvement in the responsiveness of agencies to information requests through FOI mechanism is the proper functioning of data management systems of agencies, including the ability of its people, and quality of data leadership, and the different processes and systems that ensure data availability. Thus, this Assessing Information Disclosure practices for FOI (AID-FOI) Tool intends to determine the capacity and performance of agencies in complying with the FOI regulation and its ability to respond to information requests. The results of this tool can be used by the FOI-PMO and by relevant national agencies of the Philippine Government to formulate a capacity development strategy to improve the capacity and performance of the NGA in information disclosure.

This document contains the first version of the AID-FOI Tool. This was developed by Step Up Consulting as part of the "Increasing people's access to procurement information through the FOI program", a research project by Step Up Consulting funded by HIVOS.

Fundamental Basis

The AID-FOI Tool assesses whether the conditions within an agency are appropriate for FOI mechanisms to be effective. It assesses whether the agency possesses the critical elements that will enable it to perform proactive disclosure of open agency data. For purposes of the assessment AID-FOI Tool draws heavily from the work of the Carter Center's Rule of Law Program that specifies a set of indicators to assess FOI implementation. These indicators revolve around the following key essential components¹:

i) Leadership

Engagement of high-level leadership in the development and oversight of implementation is critical for its overall success. Motivated leaders committed to the implementation of the access to information legislation will assure that necessary policies and procedures are in place, systems developed, and resources applied.

ii) Rules

Rules serve to ordain or layout the way in which public officials will handle their various access to information regime functions. They may provide binding instructions, mandated actions, or standard operating procedures to advance the implementation of the access to information law. Rules in themselves require a process of drafting an ordinance and imply both a negative and a positive concept: negative in the sense that it prevents failure or negligence from taking place and a positive one because it provides orientation and clear guidance.

iii) Systems

Systems are the processes, both formal and informal, by which an agency functions. They are a crucial component when talking about improving access to information implementation because they determine the way the agency acts and reacts to every action or aspect related to ATI. Systems are the application of rules and procedures.

iv) Resources

It is no secret to anyone that implementing access to information legislation requires considerable resources: human, financial, and infrastructure. These resources are often found within the government's pre-existing structure, but in some cases, they need to be acquired or specially allocated in order to ensure ATI implementation. Trained personnel, infrastructure, technology, and responsible officers are some of the resources that an agency needs to fully and effectively implement access to information legislation.

v) Monitoring

Monitoring the agency's access to information functions is a critical, but often overlooked, the component of the access to information implementation plumbing. Monitoring allows agencies to identify advances and deficits and to make necessary modifications or corrections. Moreover, monitoring also provides leaders with the necessary information to make better decisions pertaining to the establishment of rules, the allocation of resources, and the system adjustments required to improve the implementation of the access to information legislation.

¹¹ The discussion of the key components are lifted in toto from Carter Center's methodological note in implementing the FOI Implementation Tool. For more discussion, please see https://www.cartercenter.org/peace/ati/IAT/index.html
